Dr. Kaufman studies water resource risk assessment, heavy metal contamination in the environment, and urban water infrastructure. He has additional expertise in Geographic Information Systems (GIS). His GIS Center team at the University of Michigan-Flint has taken handwritten notes with details on water service lines in Flint and prepared maps to assist the Flint community to recover from the water crisis.